Headmaster's Message

Dear Parents and Guardians,

Quite early last Thursday morning, one of our domestic staff knocked on my door, eager to tell me about one of our children. I sat and listened as she spoke of kindness, good manners, and a pupil who continually goes out of their way to hold open a door or offer help. It reminded me that the biggest changes in schools rarely come from grand gestures, but from the small, faithful steps taken each day. A child choosing kindness, a teacher offering quiet encouragement, a family ensuring routines are steady — none of these moments make headlines, yet together they shape something extraordinary. Progress is not always loud or obvious; often, it grows quietly in the background, built through consistency, care, and commitment. As a community, it is these small steps — repeated with purpose — that make the biggest difference of all.

As a school and parent community, I believe we are really very good at these small things. I have been called upon, however, to ask that those parents whose children attend Squad on a Monday add one more small step to the list. Please could all parents and visitors park within the marked boundaries of the car parks and refrain from using the verges at the back of the site. The College is asking this of everyone, as congestion in this area is making the passage of traffic both dangerous and difficult, especially in the dark and wet at this time of year.

Thank you for your positive action on this, and moreover, for your continued efforts in encouraging so many important 'small things'.

Yours sincerely,

Mr Steven Cartwright
Headmaster, St Edmund's Prep

E-Safety

We are getting ready for Safer Internet Day next week on 10th February. The theme is 'Smart tech, safe choices – Exploring the safe and responsible use of AI'.

For our younger children, whilst they might not be ready to use the internet independently, we will be looking at good habits to keep them safe in the future.

Older children will be thinking about where AI technology is being used and the impact it can have.

Extreme Reading – World Book Day Challenge

Where is the most unusual or exciting place your child has ever read a book?

Up a tree 🌳? On top of a mountain 🏔? Somewhere unexpected at home or on an adventure? We'd love to see it!

To celebrate World Book Day on Thursday 5th March, we are inviting children to take part in our Extreme Reading Challenge. Simply snap a photo of your child enjoying a book in an "extreme" or imaginative location and send it into school by Friday 27th February.

How to enter:

- Email a photo to Mrs Christodoulou echristodoulou@stedmundscollege.org
- Or send in a printed 5x7 or 6x4 photograph in an envelope

All entries will be displayed around the school, and we will also be running a fun competition for the most extreme reading spot!

We can't wait to see just how far our pupils will go for their love of reading — anywhere and everywhere 📖🌟

Many thanks for your support.

This Week In The Prep

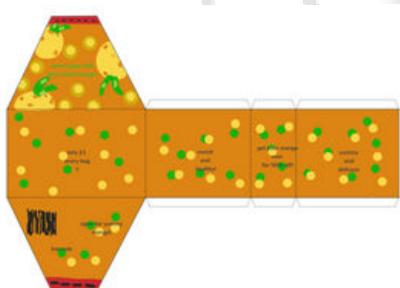

Form 6 - From Design Brief to Finished Packaging

In Computing, Form 6 have taken on an exciting design challenge, creating their own packaging for a range of healthy snacks. Starting with a design brief, the children carefully explored the purpose, audience, and requirements of their product.

They then used CAD software to design a prototype, refining their ideas and turning digital designs into real packaging. The final products were printed and assembled, bringing their concepts to life.

The snack range included freeze-dried mango, tea, and dragon fruit, each with its own unique and eye-catching design. The children showed fantastic creativity, attention to detail, and problem-solving skills throughout the process.

Form 6 truly took the design brief to the next level, producing packaging that wouldn't look out of place on shop shelves — and might even be coming to a store near you soon!

Forest School

Exciting developments have taken place in our Forest School, thanks to the generous donations from parents. We are pleased to announce the addition of new logs in our sharing circle and a donated mud kitchen, which have enhanced our outdoor learning environment. Additionally, we have introduced new bug hotels and tables crafted from natural materials, providing children with opportunities for exploration and learning.

The children have been exploring various bird species, planning the design of ideal bird feeders and houses, and even crafting their own feeders for local birds. It has been heartening to witness their enthusiasm as they share their knowledge of British garden birds while also uncovering new insights.

To foster your child's interest in nature and avian life, consider visiting the RSPB website, which is currently hosting 'The Big Garden Bird Watch.' This initiative encourages children to observe and collect data on local bird species, allowing them to submit their findings online. For more information, please visit <https://www.rspb.org.uk/whats-happening/big-garden-birdwatch>. Additionally, the 'Merlin Bird ID' app and website serve as excellent tools for helping children identify bird calls and recognise the birds they encounter. More details can be found at <https://merlin.allaboutbirds.org/>.

Our Little Edmundian's Forest Fridays have been popular, with young adventurers delighting in woodland exploration and engaging in fun activities like mud painting, natural wreath making, and playdough creations.

Does Money Buy Happiness?

In Debate Club this week we were debating whether money buys happiness.

The 'agree' team argued that, yes it does because you need to have money to pay for things like the gym, food and luxuries. Also if you don't have enough money to pay the bills that can be very stressful and make you unhappy. On the other side it was argued that although buying things might make you happy, that happiness will only last for a little while and happiness doesn't come from having things, true happiness comes from the heart.

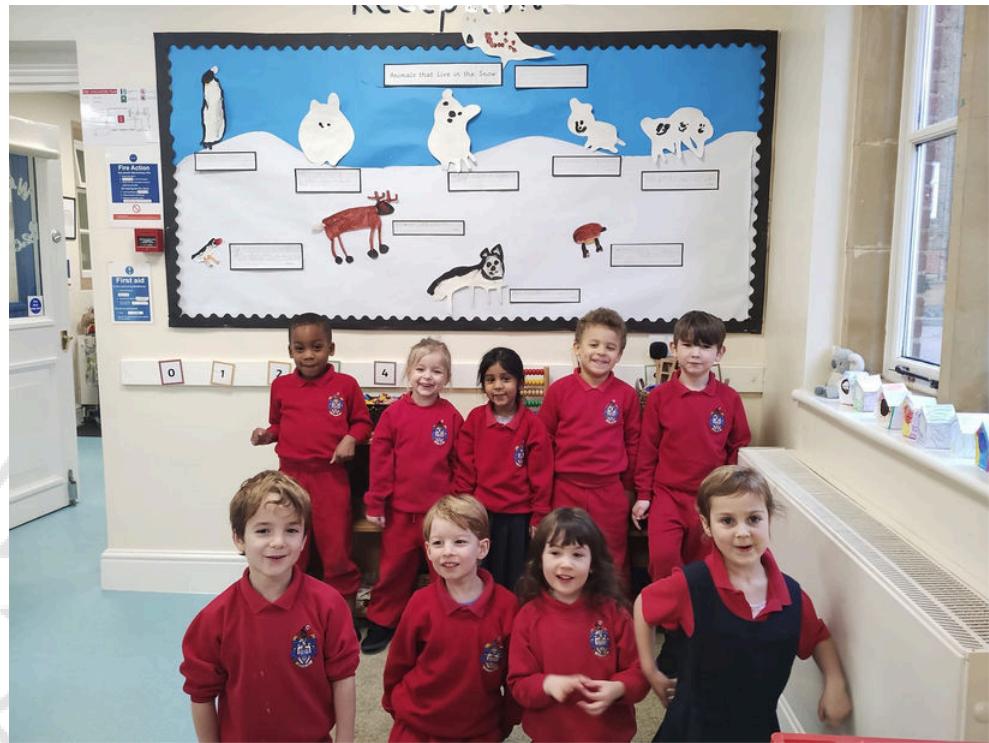

The final vote was that no, money does not buy happiness.

Reception - Animal Research

The Reception class has been looking at animals that live in cold places. We visited the library and found non-fiction books about lots of different animals. We chose an animal each and painted a picture of it. Then, in our best writing, we wrote an interesting fact. If you want to learn more about penguins, polar bears, arctic foxes, reindeer, lemmings or puffins – Reception is the place to come!

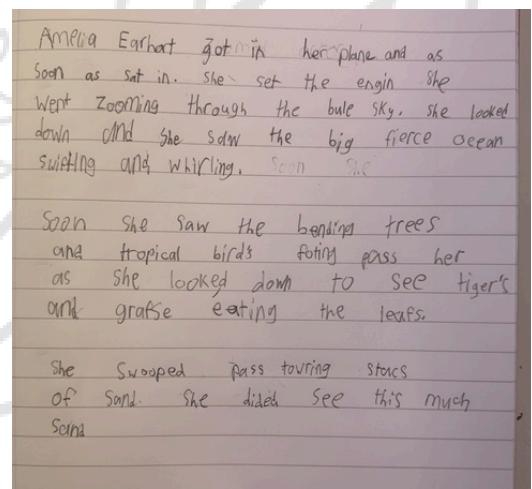

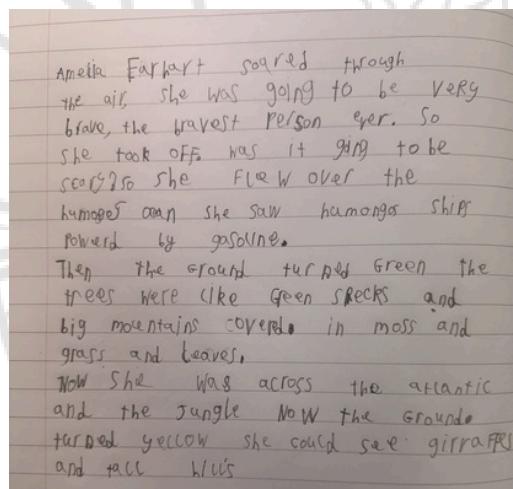

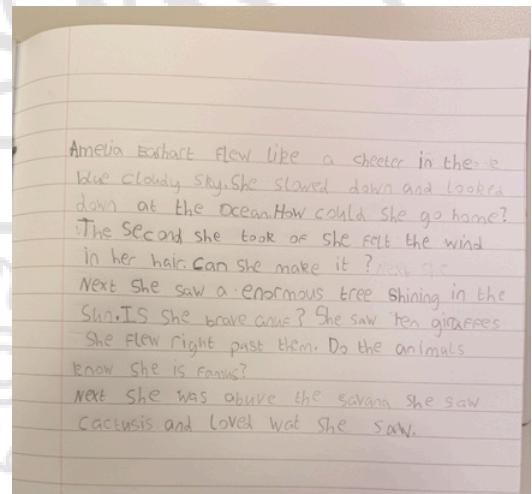

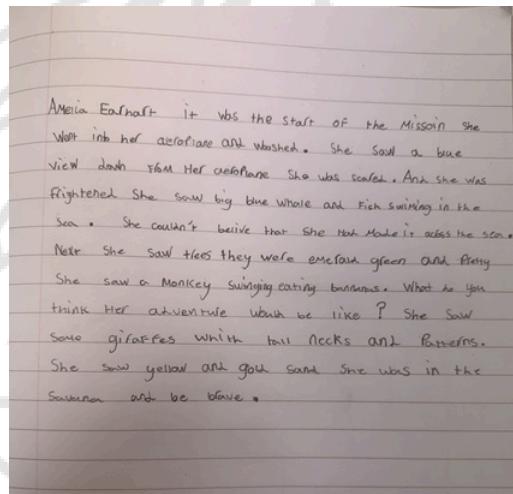

Form 2 Take Flight with Amelia Earhart

Form 2 have been learning all about Amelia Earhart in English, linking closely with their history topic. Over the past couple of weeks, the children have taken on the roles of journalists, reporters, and authors as they explored her life and achievements.

We focused on Amelia Earhart's final mission, in which she aimed to fly around the world. Through their writing, the children used similes and metaphors to vividly describe what Amelia might have seen from the air, bringing her journey to life.

We wrote detailed and imaginative descriptions of her final voyage, showing great creativity and a strong understanding of both historical events and descriptive language.

Performing Arts

Some of our Pre Prep and Early Years ballet dancers have been performing the following ballet movements,

- Pirouette - To turn
- Plié - To bend
- Piqué – Pointed toes
- Port de bras - Carriage of the arms (a controlled movement of the arms)
